

Through My Eyes

If you could only see yourself through My eyes...
Then you could see the reason why I love the world.
For deep within you lies all truth and love,
My love, which I gave to you when I made your soul.
My child if you only could see the beauty that lies within;
the beauty that I long for you to share with others.
I have given you many gifts and talents that are so uniquely yours.
They are a part of you and what makes you who you are.
You see I need you to reach out to others...
To be a light!
After all, that's what I created you for.
To shine as bright as the sun and share My love with all the world.
My child oh how I love you,
every accomplishment and every mistake,
every joy and every pain;
I am right there with you.
For I am apart of you, as you are a part of Me.
I pray that one day you will see yourself as I see you.
If you look into your heart you will find all that you seek,
and what you will find is love
