

The Little Things In Life

As the saying goes,
It's the small things in life that really make life worthwhile...

What is it about those little things, that seem to be what keeps us going? The smile on the face of a baby, the majestic snow-covered mountains, a glass of wine with a good book on a rainy day, the perfect summer evenings with friends around the BQ, the quiet star filled sky, the first tree in bloom, the hillsides covered in an array of Autumn bliss, the laughter shared over a meal with family and friends...you could go on and on and on that the list would never end. So one must ask one's self are these really the small things in life, or are these the big things, the very foundations that life is built upon?

Life so it seems, floats amidst the breeze drifting, soaring, falling, flowing venture ever forth, to and fro standing nev'r still, nev'r wait, nev'r speculate If not blowing here or there, be sure it is blowing somewhere Somewhere outside of my control my claim to reality of space and time Wondering freely among the stars No limits, nor expectations can hold life still From storm to storm it seems to nev'r change Tossed about on rougher and more deadly seas
No calm shall quench life's ache for rest Yet life marches on...
Even amid the storms and strife Life dwells in the sweetness of God's presence known
The small and the simple pleasures Somehow make everything alright
And life is once more nothing short of d'light O God, may I dwell in the simple and small In the true wonder of life's reality...

It's the Little things that make Life Big...
